Indigenous Services Canada

On December 4, 2017, the Government of Canada created the new department, Indigenous Services Canada. As part of this change, programs and services currently delivered by the First Nations and Inuit Health Branch (FNIHB) of Health Canada, including NIHB, have become part of Indigenous Services Canada.

We want to assure you that this transition does not affect providers delivering services to NIHB clients. Provider registration and claims processing functions have not changed, and all Program contact information remains the same.
